In this guide, we will teach you the basic embroidery stitches you need to get started with flower embroidery. We will also provide step-by-step instructions for three different flower embroidery projects, so you can practice your new skills.

Basic Embroidery Stitches

- Running Stitch: The running stitch is the most basic embroidery stitch. It is used to create a straight line, and it can be used to outline shapes or create details.
- Back Stitch: The back stitch is a versatile stitch that can be used to create a variety of effects. It is used to create straight lines, curves, and even details, and it is a good choice for outlines.
- Satin Stitch: The satin stitch is a smooth, shiny stitch that is used to fill in areas of color. It is a good choice for creating petals and leaves.

- French Knot: The french knot is a small, raised knot that is used to add texture and detail to flowers. It is not as difficult as it looks, and it is a great way to add a finishing touch to your projects.

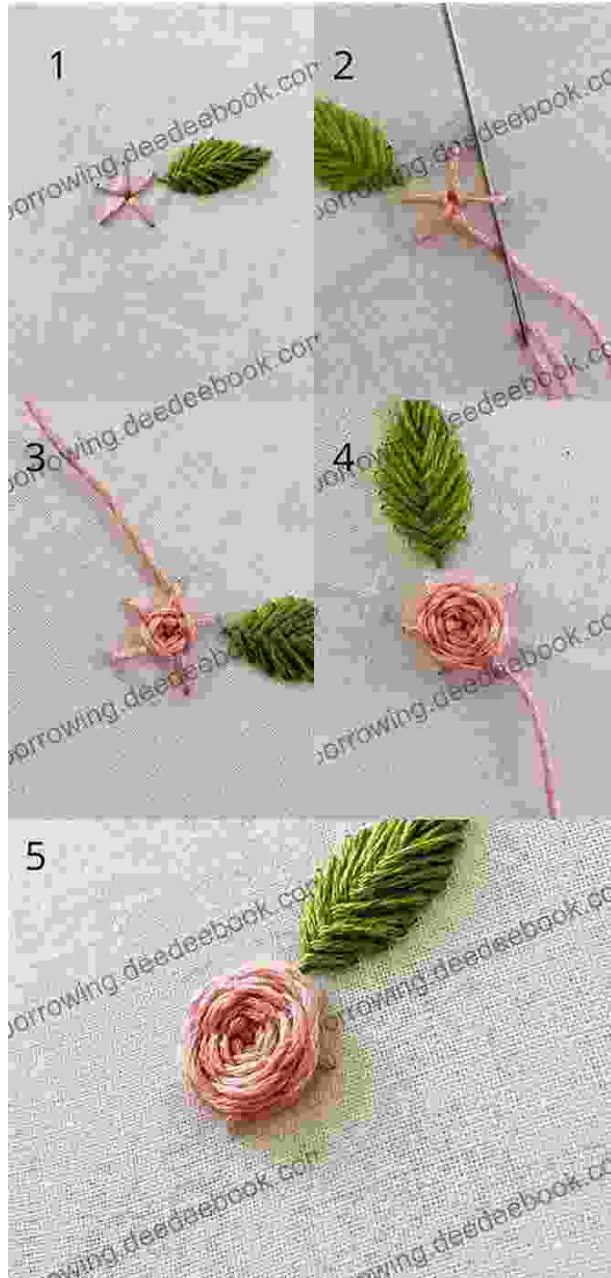

Step-by-Step Flower Embroidery Projects

Project 1: Simple Daisy

1. Draw a circle on your fabric. This will be the center of your daisy.
2. Embroider a running stitch around the circle. This will create the outline of your daisy.
3. Embroider satin stitches inside the circle. This will fill in the center of your daisy.
4. Embroider french knots around the edge of the circle. This will create the petals of your daisy.

Project 2: Rose

1. Draw a spiral on your fabric. This will be the center of your rose.
2. Embroider a running stitch around the spiral. This will create the outline of your rose.
3. Embroider back stitches inside the spiral. This will fill in the center of your rose.

4. Embroider satin stitches around the edge of the spiral. This will create the petals of your rose.
5. Embroider french knots around the edge of the petals. This will add texture and detail to your rose.

Project 3: Sunflower
