Sally and Lettie Josh Caldwell were two of the most inspiring and courageous women in Arkansas history. They faced unimaginable hardships, but they never gave up on their dreams. Their story is a testament to the power of the human spirit.

Sally was born into slavery in Mississippi in 1848. Lettie was born into slavery in Arkansas in 1850. Both women were freed after the Civil War, and they eventually made their way to Arkansas, where they homesteaded in the Ozark Mountains.

Homesteading was a difficult life, but Sally and Lettie were determined to make a success of it. They worked hard to clear the land, build a house, and raise crops. They also raised a family of 12 children.

Sally and Lettie faced many challenges during their lives. They were often poor and hungry. They had to deal with racism and discrimination. And they lost several children to disease. But through it all, they never gave up.

Sally and Lettie were an inspiration to everyone who knew them. They were strong, independent, and determined. They showed the world that anything is possible if you have the courage to follow your dreams.
